Tasting note

Mandarin and floral aromas meet ginger, white pepper and a hint of green tea. Generous fruit is balanced by bright acidity and gentle tannins from the skins, giving this orange wine a refreshing, lightly grippy finish.

The producer

Funkstille means “radio silence”. The range is made with a 16th-generation producer in Niederösterreich, drawing on Austria’s distinctive grapes and styles. Its Weinviertel vineyards are sustainably certified, while the winery generates energy from biogas and solar power.

Winemaking

Skin contact extracts colour, flavour and texture before fermentation in stainless steel. The wine spends eight weeks on its lees, without malolactic fermentation. Half the blend is aged for six months in French oak, with no new wood used.

Food pairing

Roasted vegetables, creamy risotto or nutty cheeses such as Comté and Gruyère.
