Tasting note

Soft, rounded red fruit meets bright cherry and juicy berries, with supple tannins and a fresh, lively finish. There is plenty of flavour, but the texture stays easygoing and smooth. A versatile Beaujolais for lighter lunches, charcuterie and roast poultry, especially with a short spell in the fridge.

The producer

Juliénas and Chaintré joined forces in 2013, uniting growers from Beaujolais and the Mâconnais. The cooperative combines shared cellar expertise with its members' knowledge of their vineyards. Gamay and Chardonnay are its focus, with gentle winemaking that brings out fresh fruit and a sense of place.

Winemaking

Gamay comes from vines around Jullié and Émeringes, rooted in sandy, granitic soils. Grapes are harvested by hand and macerated on their skins in tank to draw out colour and aroma. The cellar favours traditional methods and gentle extraction, preserving the fruit and encouraging a soft, supple texture.

Food pairing

Charcuterie, roast chicken, pork terrine or light pasta dishes. Serve slightly cool.
